Noah's Ark of the skies

Great or small, domesticated or not, we are experts in transporting live animals across the world. When we handle priceless thoroughbreds, international-calibre polo horses and high performance sled dogs, we afford them just as much care as you would. We have also become renowned for our expertise in carrying a large variety of more exotic live animals such as giraffes, alpacas, white tigers as well as white rhinos; each of which require the highest attention and specialist care. No wonder our fleet is sometimes described as Noah's Ark of the skies.

To safeguard the welfare of the animals we carry by affording them the safety, comfort and security that they deserve, we handle them with special care and in full compliance with the IATA Live Animal Regulations (LAR) and the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species (CITES).

Qualified staff, high professional standards and special care

Customers worldwide trust us when it comes to addressing their animal shipping needs. No animal is ever left without supervision and every flight is met, no matter the time. Through our headquarters and the LuxairCargo Centre in Luxembourg, we provide:

- EU-certified veterinary station at the Luxembourg hub with fully certified Border Inspection post, veterinary services and holding space for any animals
- Overnight accommodation in purpose-built pens in a contained and noise-protected area with temperature and lighting controls adjustable to suit different species
- Moving of animals directly from the plane to the pens, thus avoiding ground contact, for sanitary concerns and disease protection reasons

- Conditioned environments thanks to ventilation and temperature control systems, including state-of-the-art HVAC systems which duplicate natural environments from 4°C to 29°C.
- Close and personal attention from qualified animal handlers and attendants
